My story

I'm a content creator, writer & illustrator, and currently a Design & Content Creator at Ad Esse Consulting. Passionate about helping others develop as Creatives, I have a blog, LinkedIn account, and Instagram, as well as a weekly newsletter, 'The Creative Tea Break.'

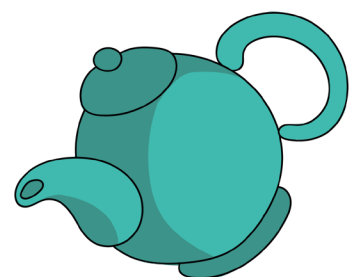

After an undergraduate degree in Publishing & English, I went on to complete a Diploma in Professional Marketing and I'm an Associate of The Chartered Institute of Marketing (CIM).

My awards include 'Best Personal Branding Campaign' at the British Accounting Marketing Awards, and my mission is to inspire and share practical advice for Creatives to further their own skills and achieve their goals.

Testimonial

"A very interesting presentation with concepts explained in depth. The accompanying slides also demonstrated key points in a clear and concise way. A confident and approachable delivery style which was met with several open floor questions, all answered in a friendly and informative manner. I would definitely recommend Sam for public speaking at your next event."
